AGENDA ITEM	DISCUSSION	ACTION
Danielle Mills, Suicide Prevention Coordinator, Sierra Community House	988—the new universal three-digit dialing code for suicide prevention and mental health crisis—went into effect nationwide on Saturday, July 16, 2022. The 988 Lifeline was designed to become a simple alternative to both 911 and the existing 1-800-SUICIDE number. Calling 988 will direct the caller to representatives specifically trained in the management of suicide risk and other mental health crises. Lifeline offers services through chat and text (in English only) and assistance in 250 languages as well as to Veterans. The 988lifeline.org has a FAQ page. In our community, common questions have been: Does the Lifeline have geolocation or tracing capabilities? The Lifeline does not currently have the capability to directly geolocate or trace callers, chat or text users in the same way that 911 providers do. The Lifeline does attempt to route callers to the nearest center to them in the network using their area code. Do Lifeline crisis center counselors contact emergency services (911, police, sheriff) for assistance? Lifeline ONLY contacts emergency services for assistance in cases where risk of harm to self or others is imminent or in progress. Less than 2% of calls involve emergency services..	Contact Danielle at dmills@sierracommunityhouse.org if you have any questions or if you want more information.

Learning Circle

CCTT began a race and equity learning journey over a year ago. The goal of the learning journey is to bring learnings about race, racism and social equity that help CCTT partners ensure operations, governance and programming of CCTT and partner agencies are driven by equity to dismantle structural racism. To date, CCTT has shared resources and tools with CCTT partners, the Tahoe Truckee Community Foundation Board, and the CCTT Race and Equity Committee.

For today's Resource Sharing meeting, we introduced the concept of white supremacy culture and characteristics and gave time for partners to reflect on their life and work experiences in the context of the daily impact of white culture. We used resources developed by Dr. Tema Okun, who for over 30 years has focused on issues of racial justice and equity. She has published The Emperor Has No Clothes: Teaching About Race and Racism to People Who Don't Want to Know (2010, IAP) and the widely used article White Supremacy Culture from 1999.

As a group, we reviewed the 9 characteristics of white supremacy culture as described by Dr Okun in her 2021 updated article, White Supremacy Culture-Still Here and its corresponding website. We then gave partners time in small groups to reflect on:

How do you see these characteristics show up in your work? Life?

What antidotes are you already practicing?

What antidotes would you like to implement?

What antidotes would you like to learn more about?

Dr. Okun's characteristics of White Supremacy Culture are just one way of understanding white supremacy culture and not the way. We recognize that each one of us navigate these cultural norms differently based on who we are and our lived experience, our race, our class, our gender, our sexuality, and our religion. We will follow up with feedback and any subsequent training.

As next steps, CCTT asked partners to let them know if they would like more training on the topic and asked for input on future training ideas.
